

Oil Heat System Technician

JOURNEYPERSONS: GET/RENEW YOUR OIL BURNER TECHNICIAN LICENCE

The Department of Labour and Advanced Education Technical Safety Division and the Nova Scotia Apprenticeship Agency have been streamlining our processes to licence certified Oil Heat System Technicians in the province.

Are you a certified journeyman in the Oil Heat System Technician trade?
If Yes, you need to apply for a licence in the following situations:

- Your journeyman ID card does NOT have an expiry date on it; OR
- Your journeyman ID card is about to expire*

*You can also apply to replace your expiring ID card. Visit: www.nsapprenticeship.ca

Journeyman, to get/renew your Oil Burner Technician Licence:

- ✓ Visit novascotia.ca/lae/fuelsafety/permits.asp
- ✓ Select Fuel Safety (Technician's) Certificate (Initial) (or Renewal)
- ✓ Complete the applicable fields on the form and ensure you check the box "Oil Burner Technician". Submit.

If you are an apprentice in the Oil Heat System Technician trade, you need to apply for your Oil Burner Technician Licence AFTER you get your Red Seal and become a certified journeyman in the trade. Until then, keep your Apprentice ID card on you at all times.

Fuel Safety Regulations, Section 88

novascotia.ca/just/regulations/regs/tsfuel.htm

All persons performing the regulated work described in Section 88 are required to hold a valid Oil Burner Technician License

For more information/assistance w/your licence application, contact:

LAE Technical Safety Division
902-220-9369; OR

Shawna Publicover, Registrar

Shawna.Publicover@novascotia.ca